UPDATE!

DELAY IN ENFORCEMENT DATE FOR THE RED FLAG RULES

The Federal Trade Commission ("FTC") recently announced that it will again delay enforcement of the new Red Flag Rules until June 1, 2010. There have been several prior delays to the enforcement date since the Rules were adopted.

A copy of the FTC Press Release regarding the extension can be found at:

www.ftc.gov/opa/2009/10/redflags.shtm

The Red Flag Rules require "creditors" and financial institutions to implement programs to identify, detect and respond to indicators of identity theft (so-called Red Flags). For purposes of the Red Flag Rules, "creditors" has been broadly defined to include any business that defer payment for goods and services. As a result, many health care providers and institutions are considered to be "creditors" and are required to implement an identity theft compliance program.
